

CoppéeLaw & Associés sCM

AVOCAT · ATTORNEY-AT-LAW

Legal counsel to governments, public institutions and international corporations.

WHO WE ARE

A practice built where business meets public authority.

CoppéeLaw & Associés SCM is the practice of Jean-Jacques Coppée, admitted to the Brussels Bar in 1975 and established in the Canton of Vaud since 2020 under his Belgian home professional title. It advises governments, public institutions, sovereign entities and international corporations on the legal aspects of their most demanding cross-border matters.

The firm has its registered seat in the Canton of Vaud and a permanent establishment in Brussels, where the European institutions and a large part of the continent's public-sector work are concentrated. That dual footing allows a matter to be handled under Belgian, EU and Swiss law within a single relationship, and coordinated with local counsel wherever else it arises.

It is a deliberately small practice. Clients deal directly and continuously with the lawyer responsible for their matter; capacity is extended, where a matter requires it, through long-standing correspondent relationships rather than through headcount.

LAWYER RESPONSIBLE,
THROUGHOUT YOUR MATTER

Jean-Jacques Coppée

Avocat — Ordre français des avocats du barreau de Bruxelles, since 1975

Established in the canton of Vaud since 2020, under his Belgian home title

Former Senior Lecturer, Faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy, Université libre de Bruxelles

Jean-Jacques Coppée was called to the Brussels Bar in 1975 and has worked in international business law ever since. His work centres on transactions in which a private counterparty and a public authority must reach agreement — public procurement and concessions, infrastructure and energy projects, establishment in unfamiliar jurisdictions, and the disputes that follow when such arrangements come under strain.

He began his career in Brussels and was based in Washington, D.C. from 1981 to 1986, working on real estate and private equity transactions and acquiring a first-hand understanding of the American regulatory and legislative process — including the part played within it by registered lobbyists. Those five years are the origin of a United States practice he has maintained since, and which today extends to the sanctions regimes administered by OFAC.

He has advised corporate groups and public authorities in the Middle East, North Africa, the Caucasus and Central Asia, and has assisted clients in establishing a presence in emerging markets — in recent years in Azerbaijan, the United Arab Emirates, Libya, China and several African states.

A second thread runs through the same career. He holds the European Certificate in Human Ecology awarded by the World Health Organization in 1977, taught for twenty years at the Faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy of the ULB, and founded there in 1987, with Professor Léopold Molle, the non-profit organisation Médicaments et Société (Medicines and Society). In 1988 he was a founding member of the Wildlife Conservation Foundation of Tanzania.

From 2023 to 2026 he founded and chaired GreenCope Development Pte Ltd, the Singapore vehicle formed to develop a large-scale voluntary carbon and conservation project over protected areas in East Africa. The vehicle was wound up in 2026.

WHAT WE DO

Eight areas of legal practice.

01

Public procurement, concessions and PPP

Advising on tender and pre-qualification procedures, concession and public-private partnership frameworks, consortium and shareholder arrangements, and the negotiation of project documentation through to closing.

02

Projects, infrastructure and energy

Legal advice across the life of a project: development and host-state agreements, EPC and construction contracts, supply and offtake arrangements, permitting and regulatory approvals.

03

Carbon markets and biodiversity

Voluntary carbon and conservation projects: carbon rights and ownership of credits, framework agreements with national conservation authorities, certification standards and methodologies, benefit-sharing with local communities, and transfers under Article 6 of the Paris Agreement.

04

Corporate and cross-border transactions

Incorporation and reorganisation, joint ventures, acquisitions and disposals, shareholder agreements, and the structuring of groups operating under Belgian, EU and Swiss law and, through local counsel, under the law of third countries.

05

Financing

Advising on the legal structuring and documentation of equity and debt financings, including private placements and investment by institutional, private-equity and sovereign investors.

06

International sanctions and restrictive measures

Advising on the EU, Swiss, UK and US regimes: whether they apply, screening of counterparties and beneficial owners, their effect on existing contracts, and applications for a derogation or licence to the competent authority on behalf of a rights-holder. In 2024 the firm obtained a derogation from the Swiss State Secretariat for Economic Affairs (SECO) allowing it to advise and represent, in Switzerland, entities subject to the restrictive measures relating to Ukraine.

Dispute resolution

Negotiated settlement, mediation and arbitration; representation before the Belgian courts and, in Switzerland, within the limits applicable to lawyers established under their home title, together with Swiss-registered counsel where the law so requires; and coordination with local counsel elsewhere.

Regulatory and institutional matters

Advising on regulatory frameworks, on authorisation and licensing procedures, and on the procedures by which national and European authorities take their decisions, and assisting clients in their formal dealings with those authorities.

Each of these areas is practised as legal advice and representation. The firm does not act as a financial intermediary, does not manage assets and does not undertake commercial representation. Any representation of a client's interests before the institutions of the European Union is conducted in accordance with the applicable transparency rules.

SECTORS

Where the practice is concentrated.

- Energy and natural resources — power generation and transmission, oil and gas, mining.
- Infrastructure and transport — ports, roads, rail, utilities and public facilities.
- Construction and engineering — EPC contracting, design and supervision.
- Industry and manufacturing — industrial establishment and joint ventures.
- Public sector and sovereign entities — ministries, agencies and state-owned undertakings.
- Health and life sciences — regulatory and institutional matters.

GEOGRAPHIES

Where our clients need us to be.

LAWS WE ADVISE ON

- Belgian law — and the law of the European Union.
- Swiss law — the firm's registered seat is in the canton of Vaud.
- Public and private international law.

REGIONS OF ACTIVITY

- Europe — with France a constant part of the practice.
- Middle East and the Gulf — including the United Arab Emirates.
- Caucasus and Central Asia.
- North, West and Central Africa.
- United States and China — through correspondent relationships.

The firm advises on Belgian, EU and Swiss law and on public and private international law. Any question governed by another legal order is handled with a local correspondent selected for the purpose, with the client's prior agreement.

TERMS OF ENGAGEMENT

What you can expect, before the first hour is billed.

01 Conflict check before acceptance

No instruction is accepted before a conflict-of-interest check has been carried out. Where a conflict exists, or arises later, the firm declines the matter or withdraws from it, in accordance with its professional rules in Belgium and in Switzerland.

02 A written engagement letter

Every matter is opened under a written engagement letter setting out its scope, the lawyer responsible, the basis on which fees are calculated, and the general terms that apply.

03 Fees agreed in advance

Hourly rates are disclosed at the outset, together with an estimate of the foreseeable cost. Fixed or capped fees can be agreed. A result-related fee may be agreed in addition to a base fee — never as the sole basis of remuneration, which professional rules prohibit.

04 Professional secrecy

What a client tells the firm in the course of its work as legal counsel is covered by professional secrecy under Belgian and Swiss law, subject only to the exceptions those laws provide. That protection attaches to the lawyer, not to the file, and it is unlimited in time.

05 Client identification and screening

As anti-money-laundering legislation requires, the firm identifies its client and, where the client acts for another, the underlying client and beneficial owner, before the matter is opened. It also screens the parties and the flows concerned against the applicable sanctions regimes, on opening and thereafter.

06 Secure communication

Correspondence is by e-mail unless a matter calls for more. One standing rule, without exception: the firm never notifies a change of its bank details by e-mail. Any message that appears to do so should be treated as fraudulent and confirmed by telephone.

07 Insurance and complaints

The practice is covered by professional indemnity insurance in Belgium and in Switzerland. Any complaint is dealt with directly in the first instance, and may in any event be brought before the competent Bar authority.

OFFICES AND CORRESPONDENTS

Two offices. A network built over fifty years.

The firm has two establishments of its own. Everything else is a correspondent relationship — a named lawyer or firm, known personally, instructed on a matter and accountable for it. We describe those relationships as what they are, because a client is entitled to know who will be acting.

Where local-law advice is required, the correspondent is proposed to the client, the scope of their mandate is agreed, and their fees are disclosed. The firm remains the client's single point of contact and coordinates the whole of the work.
